ROBLOX has come a long way from the clunky, blocky characters and difficult user interface of its past and now serves as a global gaming and game development and programming platform, with hundreds of thousands of games available from dedicated, young creators. While ROBLOX itself is free-to-play, and many games don't require players to use real-world currency or the in-game ROBUX, some games include purchasable items, add-ons, and other microtransactions like game passes. "The curriculum launching today is designed to provide both educators and students with a self-paced, topic-specific narrative that will help build a generation of resilient digital citizens and ensure kids and teens have positive and safe online experiences."

With how popular the game is with young kids, that makes sense. However, for some reason, the chat system sees the numbers five through nine as inappropriate. The pigeon/butterfly meme makes a perfect fit for the situation.
